Marbles

All April long, opponents will be throwing their knuckles down. Don't worry, this isn't anything sinister. "Knuckles down" is the position you assume before shooting in a classic game of marbles. So, this April, Knuckles Down Month, you too can play for keeps.

The classic game of marbles is called ringer. Two parallel lines, lag lines, are drawn 10 feet away from each other. A large 10-foot circle is drawn between the lag lines. In the middle of the circle is a cross made of 13 target marbles, or mibs. To determine who plays first, each player lags from one lag line to the other; that is, they toss their shooter marble to the opposite line. The player whose shooter lands closest to the lag line goes first.

Play starts by knuckling down along the edge of the ring and using your thumb to cast your shooter at the mibs inside. The object is to knock a mib outside the circle while keeping your shooter inside. You next knuckle down inside the ring where your shooter landed. If you fail to knock out a mib, then it is your opponent's turn. The first player to knock out a majority of marbles wins, and it's up to you to determine whether to play for fair (return all marbles to their original owners) or play for keeps (the winner keeps all the marbles).

A clear glass jar is filled with a variety of colorful jelly beans, including yellow, pink, orange, purple, green, and white. The jar is positioned on the left side of the image. A white semi-transparent box is overlaid on the right side of the image, containing the title and game rules.

Jelly Bean Guessing Game

Here's the challenge...try to guess the amount of jellybeans in the jar. If your guess is the closest (either over or under the exact amount), you will win the entire contents of the jar! Winners will be drawn after the Easter holiday.

There is a jar in each campus; therefore there will be one winner in each. Jars & guessing slips can be found:

MORE THAN 80,000 MOMENTS OF JOY & COUNTING

We share moments of connection through delivering bedside bouquets to those you serve. Through these moments, we're creating community, spreading joy and fostering a sense of belonging.

We're so grateful to remind people they matter, especially our area seniors! Thank you welcoming us into your community!

ABOUT HOPE BLOOMS

Hope Blooms is a local nonprofit that repurposes flowers into beautiful bedside bouquets and delivers them to community members in need. All with one message: you matter.

We serve individuals in hospice care, nursing homes, long-term care facilities and assisted living, memory care centers and more.
